Join in on the Community Conversation about Dorchester Goes Purple!

States Attorney Bill Jones will be the host of the first of two episodes for Dorchester Goes Purple. During this episode you will learn more about why we go purple and the impacts being felt locally because of opioid addiction. Bill's guests will include Bob Willey who will talk about the devastating effects of having a loved one fall into the grips of addiction. Dorchester County Sheriff James Phillips will share the impacts felt by the community as the problem continues to grow and the steps local law enforcement is taking to control the issue. Angela Grove from the Dorchester County Health Department will round out the guests for the first session and will talk about the impacts Covid-19 has had on the problem and share local data to help you understand the problem is here.

As always, listeners will have the opportunity to ask questions and provide input during the one hour conversation.
